LIFE

"Man vs. Machine and Wins-for Now."
"Acid Rain Pits State against State." This is your life . . . or a day in it, at least. No matter how many tests we fail or how many classes we are late to, our lives still go on. Just as our parents survived Richard Nixon and love-in's, we have to face up to pollution and Dan Quayle.

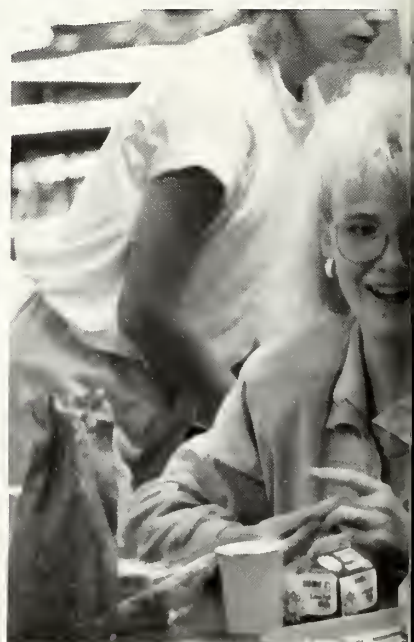

Each day, we have to struggle to get it together for school. Sometimes, while brushing our hair, we brush up on current events for Mr. Spear's class. Meanwhile, politicians everywhere brush up on the same current events so they can look as though they know what they are talking about. How much do we have in common with the real world?

In a way, we are our own little world. Mr. Beck is our President Bush. Our country is in grave debt and so is the Hilltopper. We have an election every year, similar to real ones. The comparisons could be endless. Everything we are learning now affects the rest of our lives. Our worlds are now taking form.

Time capsules and history books tell us what worlds were like millions of years ago. We can only know the history, never the experiences. For example, Dinosaurs are gone forever and we can only say what we thought they looked like. We want to be able to remember our experiences at Howe, in our world, during this. As our world is formed, so is our time capsule and our world's history. Just as President Bush's name is recorded in our history books, Principal Beck's name is recorded in our memories. Here's to our world, our principles past and present, our friends, our history, and the importance of each day of our lives.

Before School

Before school in spite of the 7:30 early class start, students find time for many necessary and enjoyable activities. Some students take time to sleep while others study for an upcoming test. Some decide eating something is important. Some visit counselors or teachers for help. Others congregate around lockers with their friends and socialize. Still others make phone calls and finish business they do not have time for during the day. Some get help with homework from their friends. A few get a date and a few wander the halls looking.

Top: Tracy and Kristine Washington don't look too enthused about school today.

Right: Jason Meek and Tracy Kord are embarrassed for Jeff Lawrence because he doesn't know how to wear his sunglasses. We hope he can see to do his work.

"School day, school days,
good old golden rule days,
reading and writing and arithmetic, talk to the tune of (a student's life before school)"

A Day in the Life of a Student

A day in the life of a student after school might include hanging around the jammed-packed concession stand waiting for popcorn, candy, or a nice cool coke for that long walk home. Some just walk around the halls or stand and wait for a ride home.

After school there are also a lot of activities going on. Students practice for cheerleading, football, baseball, basketball, volleyball, tennis, track and field, golf, and a lot of other sport activities offered at Howe. But we can not forget about the clubs offered at Howe after school. Some students attend after-school meetings of French Club, German Club, Math Club, Media Club, and other such activities, even the Say-No-Team.

Life after school can be very busy for any student.

LIFE

After School

A Day in the Life of a Student

A day in the life of a student includes transportation. How would a student get to school without it? Some people choose to walk (or maybe they have to). Some call their parents but have to wait two hours for them to show up. The buses bring a large majority of students to school. This may be the cause at times for tardies to Faculty Advisory. Some students have the advantage of driving themselves to school, often cramping every friend they have into every square inch of their car.

Top Center: This duce strolls out to their car as they seem to be the last to leave for the day.

Top Right: After school, Chris Hampton calls to get a ride home.

A day in the life of a student at school involves many things ranging from listening and reading to pep sessions and assemblies. Between classes, many students pass time by gossiping, borrowing money, buying cokes, and rushing to the restrooms. A day at school is not just all fun. When it is time to take finals, many students give up their lunch periods to study in the Media Center.

ART

Students in the art classes at Thomas Carr Howe High enjoy the opportunity to study and experience working with both two and three dimensional art forms throughout the 1989-90 school year. Classroom offerings include study and activities in metal crafting, print-making, cartooning, drawing and painting, sculpting, pottery making, craft design, stage craft, commercial art, and art history. In addition, students gain the opportunity to exhibit their work and compete in many art shows and contest, among which are the Regional Scholastic Art Competition, the "500 Festival of the Arts" contest, "The International Violin Poster Competition," the "Just Say So" drug and alcohol abuse poster contest, and the Howe High School Spring Art Awards Exhibit. Students also may receive guidance in career selection in the visual arts.

Art students keep busy with various activities. Some think posing for the artists is more difficult than drawing. One student might want to loan her mask out for the senior-sponsored play, especially should they do Antigone. Melissa Jackson, middle right, meticulously works on her drawing.

Top Left: Randy Anderson has to be careful not to smear ink in his drawing.
Top Right: Using a pencil, Mr. James Lynch

Business

The Business Education Department is the link to your future. We offer accounting, keyboarding, computer training, shorthand, and various other classes to prepare students to enter the work force. There are two vocational programs in the Business Department — Cooperative Office Education and Marketing Education. Students receive credit, money, and on-the-job training during school hours. We have equipment which is up-to-date and can offer the training needed to begin a successful business career and also be able to manage personal life skills.

No "Computer Reading" Yet —

Shakespeare, Twain, Dickens, Hemingway, Steinbeck, Homer, Socrates, and so many other authors once again flickered through the minds of many English students. Dangling and misplaced modifiers managed to befuddle a few in grammar. Some English students found themselves writing themes and themes and themes to develop their thinking process. ISTEP haunted the English classes for another year of practice exercises and persuasive essay exams. The department offered writing, speaking, and acting contests; especially noteworthy is the National Council of English contest. English students were able to submit original works for PEN POINTS literary-arts magazine or edit the works as a staff member, to write for the TOWER or HILLTOPPER, to act in the senior-sponsored play, and to participate in a variety of contests offered or recommended by the department. No one offered a course in reading as it relates to computer books or manuals; but, who knows, it might be a course for the year 2001.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Foreign Language Department usually offers, at least, four years in French, German, Spanish, and Latin. In some cases students are even able to get a fifth or sixth year of a language if they entered Howe with language credit from junior high school. Some upper level classes often have to be combined because of the low enrollment at such a high level. The teachers of this department should be commended for this extra effort for these upper level students.

Last year, the mayor arranged for twenty-two German students to visit Indianapolis from our Sister City, Cologne, Germany. The families of Howe's foreign language students generously opened their homes to six of these foreign student visitors. Hopefully, this staunch support and sharing will continue.

Once again Howe students have entered the Indiana University Honors Program of Overseas Study. Mike Johnson, in German, and Matt McBurnie and Rosemary Deal, in French, competed. Although the Foreign Language Department may be down in its enrollment, these entries show the quality of its students is being maintained.

Mr. Donald Austin returns to Howe High as director of guidance. Mr. Austin taught English at Howe and was advisor to the Yearbook, the HILLTOPPER, from 1964 to 1967. He had previously taught English and coached basketball at a small school and served as principal of Filmore for two years. After he left Howe, he became a counselor at Marshall High School from 1967 to 1986. When the high school was closed, he found himself at Arlington. Then around Thanksgiving 1989, Mr. Austin returned to Howe to take over his present duties. We are pleased to have Mr. Austin return, and we understand he is pleased to be back.

Significant changes rocked the counseling offices this year. For three months, Mr. Robert Berry, former director of guidance, performed two duties at Howe. He continued his duties as director while taking on the job of vice-principal when Mr. Bruce Beck filled the position of principal for Mr. Frank Tout who was asked by the main Delaware-Walnut office to be coordinator of the high school principals.

With Priscilla Repass also making a change to become dean of girls at Tech, the counselors were a bit short-handed for a while. Sandra Petty stepped in to aid as a counselor, and Stella Vandivier returned to Howe after having been at Tech for a while. We hope she is as pleased to be back as we are to have her back.

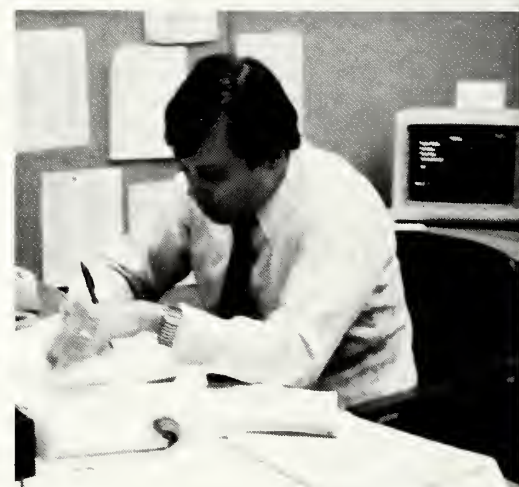

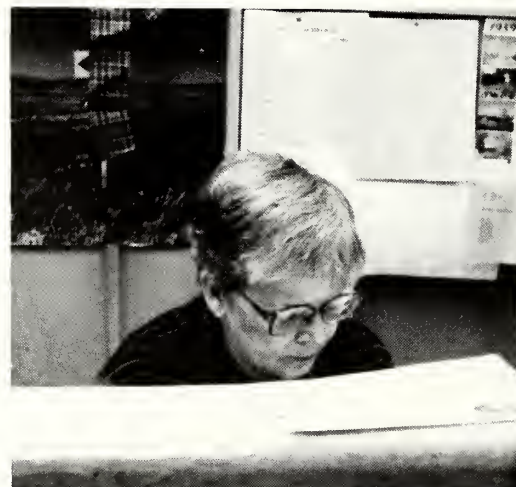

With Donald Austin, Sandra Petty, and Stella Vandivier filling the gap, the counseling office has a better chance to accomplish its various tasks.

In a school whose student body consists of both males and females, it is very plain to see that the Home Economics Department would play an important role in the molding of future leaders of tomorrow. Our Home Economics Department is constructed to cover minute details found in courses such as Family Relations, Personal Development, Foods and Nutrition, Clothing and Needle Art, Nutrition for the Athlete, and Child Care and Development. From such a department, homemakers are not the only people molded. We too have the honor to rub shoulders with future designers, decorators, chefs, nutritionists, and educators of whom Howe will one day be proud.

Bottom Right: Angie Willis thinks to herself, "This is a lot better than the school lunch."

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Technology Department was full of activities this year. The new curriculum that was instituted in 1988 included a field trip downtown to the City Planners' Office by the Community Planning class, a trip to the airport by the Designing and Evaluating Transportation Systems class, printing personalized t-shirts by the Graphics Communication classes, building radios and making commercials in Electronic Communications, pouring concrete and building model houses in Constructing Structures, building model dream homes in Construction Planning and Design, casting and welding in Manufacturing Materials and Processes, and doing a mass production project in Manufacturing Design and Processes.

A new Mini-class added this year, Silk Screening, was so popular it took two classes to accommodate all the students who wanted to take it.

There was a strong emphasis on hands-on activities in the Industrial Technology Department this year and students continued to have fun while learning new concepts which will help them get and keep a job when they graduate.

The department underwent a big change when Mr. Wellington was promoted to Director of Howe's Evening School Division and students in Transportation class built model rockets with the help of Mr. M, as they called James Mantynban, the substitute who replaced Mr. Wellington for most of the school year. Mr. Wellington will be sorely missed by students and teachers in the Industrial Tech Department, but luckily he's still available here at Howe when his help is needed.

Students in Industrial Technology this year had an opportunity to learn skills which will help them adapt to the demands of our fast-paced and highly technical society while having fun and making friends in class.

Bottom Left: You would think that the Advance Math students wouldn't have to count on their fingers, but Matt McBurnie and Jason Cox prove otherwise.

Top: "Hey, guys, did you get 33 for number fifteen?" asks Rose Child to the rest of the group during a community math project.
 Above: These math students certainly prove that not all of IPS students are delinquents.

MATH

The Mathematics Department began the year with several changes in personnel. Mrs. Elizabeth Marcrum retired in June and Mr. Richard Harpold transferred to the Physical Education Department. The resulting vacancies were filled by Mrs. Martha Diggle and Mr. Doug Bateman. The Math Club, sponsored by Mrs. Carolyn Freeman, has planned several activities including a lock-in, pizza party, and a trip to Mammoth Cave. The Math Club also spends long hours planning and hosting a county-wide junior high math contest. Howe math students participate in several contests during the school year. The greatest success by our students last year was winning the IPS Math Contest. Howe can celebrate success in every level of mathematics. Hard work pays off!

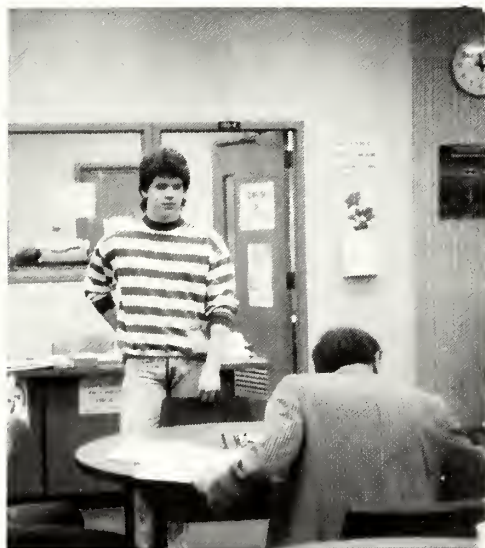

MEDIA

The Media Center continues to move more and more into the modern age of technologies. Students are able to use not only an electronic encyclopedia but also, with the aid of a new modem, an information retrieval data base. This information data base should be valued by students going to college or into the business world as well as others. This new system will also allow the library to order books directly, simplifying that task.

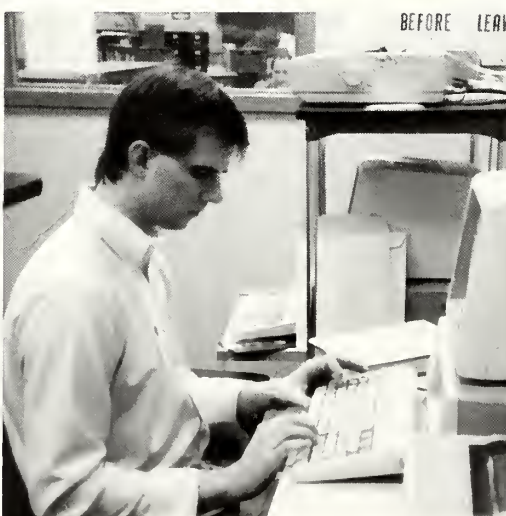

Many types of books, many types of audio-visual equipment, and many teacher services are available in Howe's Media Center. One of the center's most prized possessions is the Apple computer. It makes some different types of computer work easy.

The relatively new security system, according to Mrs. Leffler, head of the Media Center, has been well worth the money and quite well accepted by students. That the staff and students make use of the Media Center pleases Mrs. Leffler, for the center functions to aid — and it does. The student body and the faculty are well aware of the Media staff's assistance to education.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Skills, Fitness

Obstacle courses, baskets, dead lifts, sprints, and jogs are all a part of the Physical Education Program at Howe High School. A student in physical education is exposed to the many sports skills and fitness endeavors.

Those who want to excel in exercise and fitness can enroll in aerobics and conditioning classes. Advanced training is the key for these two courses which stress strength, endurance, and fitness.

The health classes are designed to prepare students to live a long, healthy life. Present trends in nutrition, disease prevention, and fitness are studied and discussed.

Middle: By the looks of this volleyball game, it seems that neither team is winning.

Opposite Page Bottom: These two are trying to get some place but realize they're suppose to run in place.

Right: These two seem to have the berpees down pat.

SCIENCE

Science, the search for truth and understanding, continues to destroy myth and superstition. It also seems that everyone is increasing his demand that "science" solve even more of society's problems. Of course, everyone needs to know enough science to anticipate what can be expected of science and to understand and implement the solutions science discovers. Thomas Carr Howe High School offers a variety of non-living or physical sciences which includes physical science, chemistry, earth science, and physics. The only life science offered is biology. Every student, regardless of the trade school, vocational program, or college program he enters, needs a sound science background. Biology and, at least, one of the physical sciences will fill that need.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"Tomorrow, tomorrow, and tomorrow"

Each day's news creates more to be added to the history books. Each day, therefore, the curriculum for social studies enlarges.

The children of the fifties thought the addition of World War II difficult. Since then, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the flight to the moon, many additional Presidents and Vice Presidents, Watergate, and the Iran-Contra affair are only a few important events to have been tacked on to American history classes.

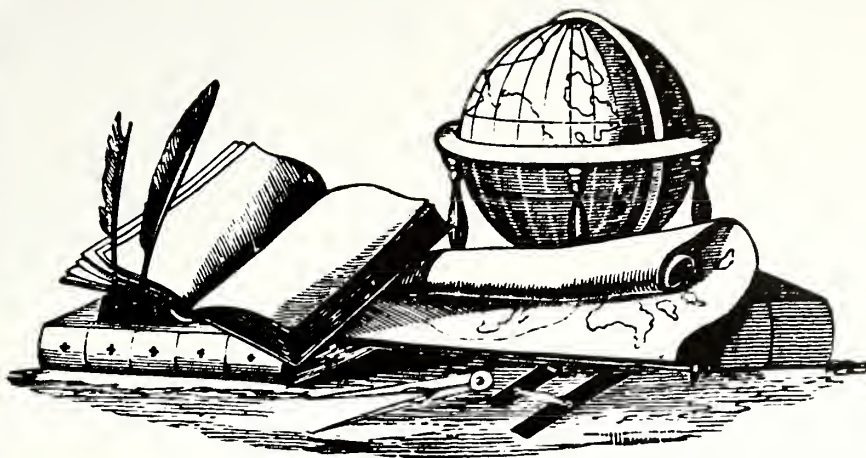

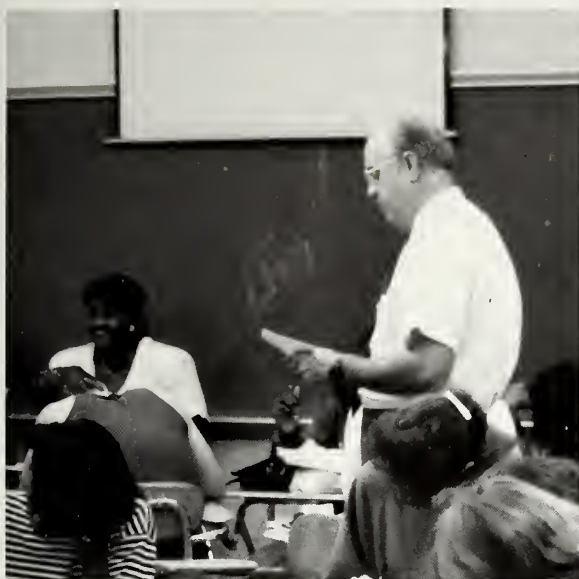

Our basic constitutional government has not changed; but, as each Congress and new Supreme Court members take their seats, the temper of the government changes; the interpretation of the constitution and the laws change.

Psychology and sociology take on a new flavor as more studies are done and as human behavior changes.

Geography has been added to the curriculum of social studies as well.

Social studies' material increases; it is liquid.

Opposite Page Bottom: Richard Rutledge pulls back to lead the discussion in social studies.

Top: "I hope everyone has gotten these notes," says Mr. Finkbiner. Obviously, Karlisa Scott and David Marshall caught something other than the notes.

Middle: Nick Viers, Toni Marshall, Shelly Wallace, Denise Price fake out their teacher by giving the appearance of listening in U.S. history. Actually they were probably color coordinating his tie and sox.

Bottom: Mr. Spears, Gale Lewis, Jonas Lundgren, Bonnie Bullens, and Stephanie Mendoza play the game to see who's on top of things in their Current Issues class.

Special Education

I don't really think it's a problem being in special education classes because most of the kids don't bother me. But if they did, I would try and take it. And it makes it easier to take it since there is usually a teacher around. I have kids in my classes that stand up for me.

One bad thing about being in special education is having to use the elevator. But a good thing about being in special education is that you are as smart as anyone else; you mae just have a few disabilities.

But if you feel bad about having disabilities all you have to do is read books and ask questions or talk it over with a friend.

Probably the best thing to do for those who bother you is try to be their friends. Also for those that have problems in special education who have people bothering them a lot, be nice to them.

Another thing students might bother you about is being in a wheelchair. Some people might make fun of you for being in a wheelchair, but it really helps if you think to yourself that you are somebody too.

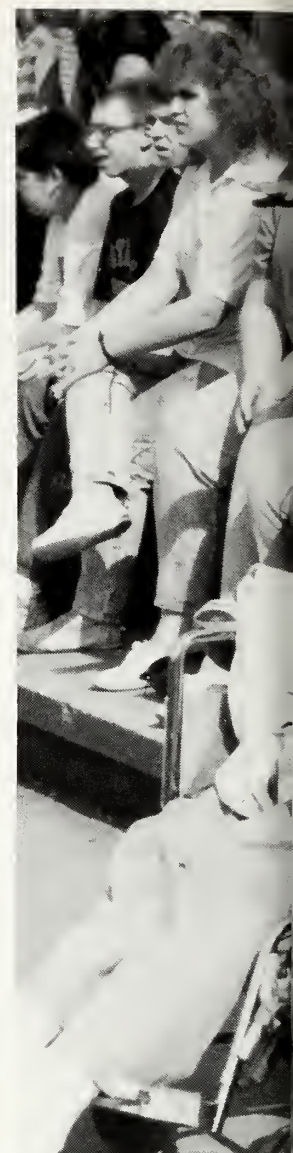

Many of the people in special education are really smart, but they are just in special education because of physical problems.

Don't feel sorry for those of us in special education; just get to know us because you'll like us.

HOMECOMING

School spirit ran high for the preparation of the Homecoming Football Game. Students worked on floats, practiced for the band, participated in spirit week, prepared cheers and banners, planned the pep assembly, voted for the queen and king, and various other activities.

Carmen Davenport became the Homecoming Queen and Eddie Hicks, King when the votes were tallied. The football team was ready to meet Broad Ripple and beat them. They brought a busy preparation time to a fruitful end with a win over that team.

Rain put a bit of a damper on the Friday's activity causing a cancellation of the pep assembly and a noticeable protest by a few students. This understandable but not sanctioned protest caused problems for students later but did not ruin the fun of Homecoming. Homecoming with all its festivity was certainly a success in every way.

Top: Mr. Irvin Haas (in case you can't tell — left) was certainly beautiful dressed like Mrs. Jo Leffler on twins day. Luckily, he has very lovely legs.

The Music Department creates a lot of fun though it requires a lot of hard work. Just as other classes, a student has to work hard to get an A. There are a lot of after school activities that have to be done — rehearsals, performances, and such. The department puts on musicals twice a year, one in the spring and one in the summer. For the spring musical, students work for three months to give two performances. One student said about the Music Department, "It's going pretty even. I mean a lot of people are dropping out, but those who are left are working hard."

The Music Department offers quite a variety of music classes — music theory, choralaires, varsity singers, several choirs, history of rock 'n roll, concert band, symphony band, keyboarding, orchestra, varsity band, and string ensemble. The department seems to offer most any class that a music student might want.

SPRING MUSICAL

Howe's Music Department presented the musical WORKING. Working is simply a collage of different people doing various jobs. Overlapping one another in the twisted, tangled lives of each other, the characters range from newspaper copy boys to corporate executives. Each character is different, but all have the same problems, problems covering such events as being hired and being fired. The blue collar workers always portray someone wanting more; and the migrant workers, someone wanting to show what they had to go through to put salad on someone's plate. Music students worked under unusual circumstances this year to present the spring musical — the auditorium was closed for repair work and they were forced to present their performance on constructed stages in the balcony of the gymnasium. The audience, as never before, was seated in the balcony of the gymnasium to observe the grand tradition of the Music Department in a more intimate setting.

JROTC

One day in J.R.O.T.C. is a fun, exciting, and innovating learning experience. In this class, a student, as a cadet, is allowed an opportunity to execute some of his leadership and following skills. This course gives those cadets who don't have a high self-esteem a better outlook about their lives.

Each year a student returns to J.R.O.T.C., he gains a lot more knowledge about situations that will occur in daily life. It is also a class that expresses tons of history — history of the army and really basic American history.

The students who take this course don't like the uniforms at first, but once they begin receiving more and more medals and rank they can't wait to wear the uniform each Thursday.

I would recommend this course to anyone who doesn't know exactly where he would like to go in his future.

In a final word, Junior Reserve Officers' Training Course is the greatest thing since the invention of the bubble gum machine. If a student puts forth an effort and does all he can do in this course, he will be greatly rewarded for all his hard work!

The Tower staff has had a lot of expectations and changes.

Is it true? How far along do you think she is? Should we ask her? When will it be here? We know the due date, but will it be on time? What will it look like? Is this why that room had to be cleaned out and all those old things taken down and new ones put up? Does this explain the change in her attitude as well? What changes will this bring for the Tower?

These were questions the Tower Staff whispered among themselves during the first two weeks of school while waiting to build up the courage to ask Mrs. Martich whether or not the rumors were true. Finally, two brave staffers asked the big question and were told that, yes, Tower was getting new computers and, yes, in case it wasn't obvious, Mrs. Martich was pregnant.

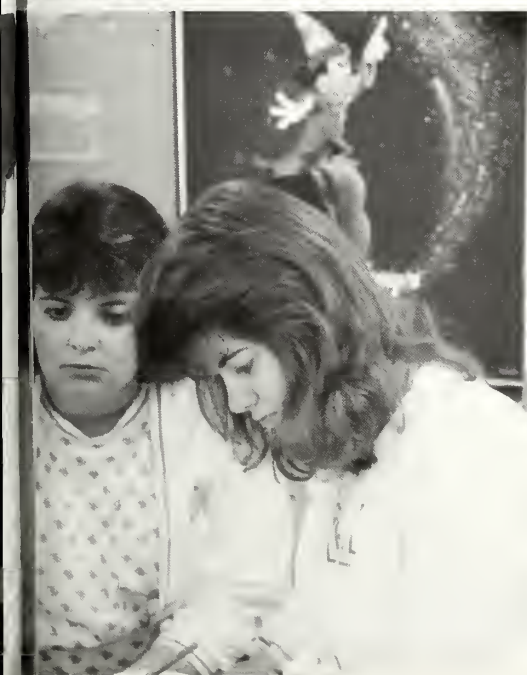

Tower went through other changes too. This year there are two staffs which alternate putting out issues. This means two editors-in-chief and so on. Then the style of the type and format of a page were changed.

Even with all of these expectations and changes the goal of Tower to put out a good student publication, by the students for the students, remained unchanged. Amy Cook

BOYS'/GIRLS' TRACK

The variety of events at a track meet keep many students busy as well as many officials. Running, jumping, throwing, and such activities do not allow track students to stand still for long. When not competing, track participants often warm up with stretching or exercises.

The starting gun, the time watch, and the tape measure are items needed by the officials during a meet. Self-reliance, self-assurance, and self-control are qualities needed by the students during a meet. These qualities are especially important for track because it is more of an individual than a team sport. There are, however, some events that require team work. To be sure, the teams attitudes unites in one goal — placing a W in the win column for Howe High School.

BASEBALL

The Baseball Team of this year is different in a couple of ways compared to the team of last year. The first change of the team is the coach. This team has a new coach, and his name is Mr. Renie. He was the J.V. coach last year and he replaced Mr. Woodfork this year. The second change of this year is the team spirit. The team of this year is more motivated and eager to win, compared to the team of last year. The team feels that they have a good team and that they can play better baseball than last year's team. This year's team is putting last year's team in the back of their minds and are focusing and concentrating on this year's schedule. This year's team is led by eight returning lettermen. Gary Piersall and Mark Atchley are the returning catchers while Mike Tucher, Tim Messenger, and Don Salyers will be doing the pitching. Randy Anderson will be on first base while John-Paul Weidner and Marcus Moore will be in the outfield for the Hornets.

GOLF

The 1989 Howe Boys' Golf team competes during the spring and is coached by Bill Smith. This year, the team ended with ten wins and four losses. The Hornets won the IPS golf tournament for the third year in a row and individually, Howe took the top two places in the tournament.

This year promises to be a rebuilding year for the golf team with only one letterman returning. The goals for the next season are a twelve win season, victory in the IPS tournament, place in the top three in the city tournament, and finish in the top seven in the sectionals.

Although we have lost some strong players, we feel confident that through hard work and determination, we can set a solid foundation and achieve our goals in the 1990 season.

GIRLS' TENNIS

This year, the Girls' Tennis Team had their successes and failures, but that never interrupted their outstanding goal of achievement. Each win demonstrated the closeness of the team and even through the losses, the team still stuck together.

"We've participated over the summer in a tennis program which really challenged us, and I think the team will do better because of this," said Rose Childs. While some players felt the season greatly advanced their tennis game, still others saw it as a general growing experience. Julie Merri-man said, "The season was great overall. We became closer as time went on. I met new friends and learned more about my older friends. It was my first year playing doubles but it was fun and I have a lot of great memories to look back on."

Whatever the individual feeling, the team's strong point was the closeness of the players. It kept them going this year and hopefully will continue to push the team to victory.

It could have been Howe's best softball season in a long time, but injuries to major players left the less experienced ones with difficult tasks to perform.

After working hard pre-season with Coach Page, Bev Guernsey was in the best pitching shape of her career. Bev was one of the most important players until she was injured in a running drill at practice. Senior Sherri Ochs and Sophomore Jennifer Acklemire replaced her following the incident. Mr. Patton showed Jennifer a new way to pitch and she really started blooming around sectional time.

Another valuable player, Valerie Vespo, started the season hitting at .533 with a pair of home runs and 25 RBI's. Ligament damage to Valerie's knee ended her chances to play for Howe.

"This year we just didn't have the pitching." Hopefully next year with teamwork and more experience, we will have a more overall successful season.

The 1989 football team was special. In 1987 Howe was 7-1 and 1988 undefeated 8-0. We lost 20 seniors and another 8 players moved or didn't make their grades. We were inexperienced and thin in numbers. After 4 games we were 1-3, and defensively we gave up 84 points the last 2 games. The excuses were there. It would have been easy to continue to lose. This team didn't. They pulled together, travelled to Gary Andean and won 23-7. After that we beat Arlington (15-13), Broad Ripple (22-20), and Northwest (13-7).

Good things happen when you work hard. Tech had to forfeit and we are the first I.P.S.A.C. champions (4-0) holding a season record of 6-2.

JV & FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Scores do not necessarily tell the whole story. They do not tell about the hours of practices, the hard work, the team effort, and the member comradeship and fun. But, for those who think it is only the "bottom line" that counts and the "scores speak for themselves," here they are.

This year's volleyball season started out great with a defeat over Northwest High School. Unfortunately, the team lacked desire, dedication, and spirit. Too many players were unwilling to listen and learn so the season wasn't so successful.

One good point to the season was the freshman turnout. It is possible that Howe broke a record this year with twelve to fifteen freshmen coming out in one season. Though a lot of the ninth graders were inexperienced, they really tried and played hard. They kept their chins up during all of their discouraging moments. Ms. Purvis will definitely have a more successful season next year.

Good luck to both varsity and reserve next year!

SOCCER

Welcomes Two New Coaches

This year, the Howe High School soccer program welcomed two new coaches, Francis Hart Jr., head coach, and Bill Moore, assistant coach. The program started rough but as the season went on, we began to show progress. The team had to adjust to new coaches, new rules, and a lack of support from fans.

Our first games were against Brownsburg and Broad Ripple. We came out in good condition and tied both games. We really started working on fundamentals that many players had forgotten. We looked like a team and played together. Game after game, we came close to winning but could not pull it off. Teams that killed us last year only beat us by one or two goals this year. We did not win any games, but we showed great improvement over the season.

Hopefully next year, we can start practices earlier and get into better shape. With more support from classmates and teachers, the soccer team could really make it a winning season for all.

GIRLS' GOLF Shows Dedication and Improvement

This year, the Girls' Golf Team has shown a lot of dedication and improvement over last year. Every member on the team got a birdie this season. Some actually shot under par. Each member of the team has also shot a ball over a lake at least once. However, they found out that most often, the balls were attracted to the lakes as if the lakes were magnets.

Here's some advice for young and old golfers alike: Beware of killer mosquitos, watch out for our four feathered friends, and never forget that balls don't swim!

BOYS' TENNIS

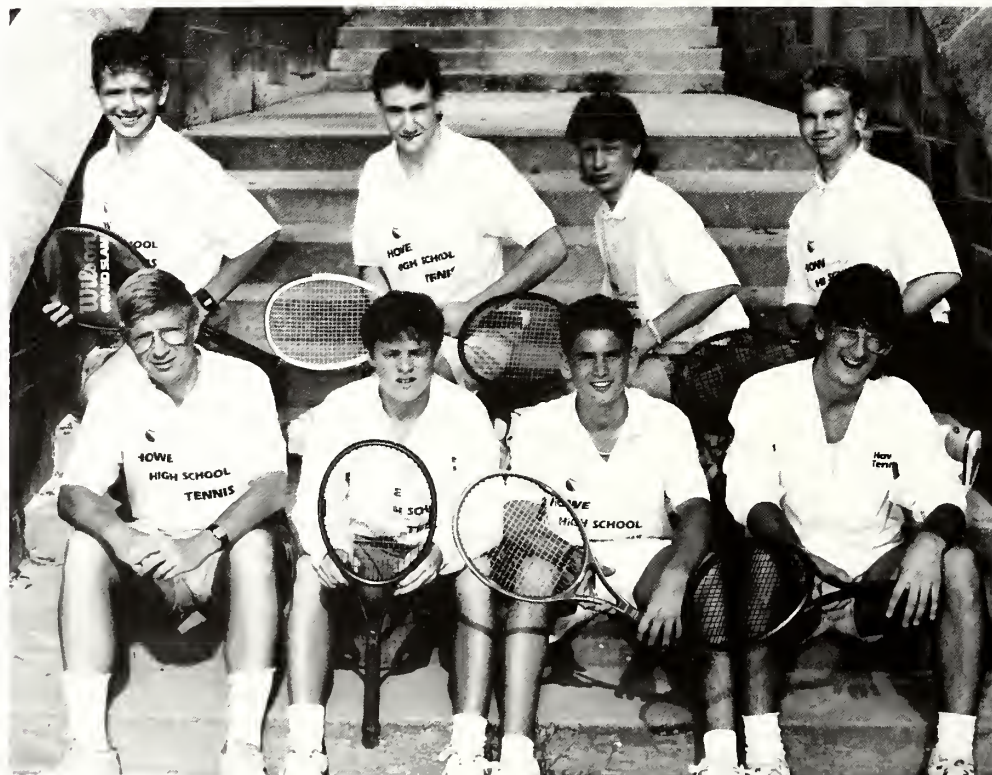

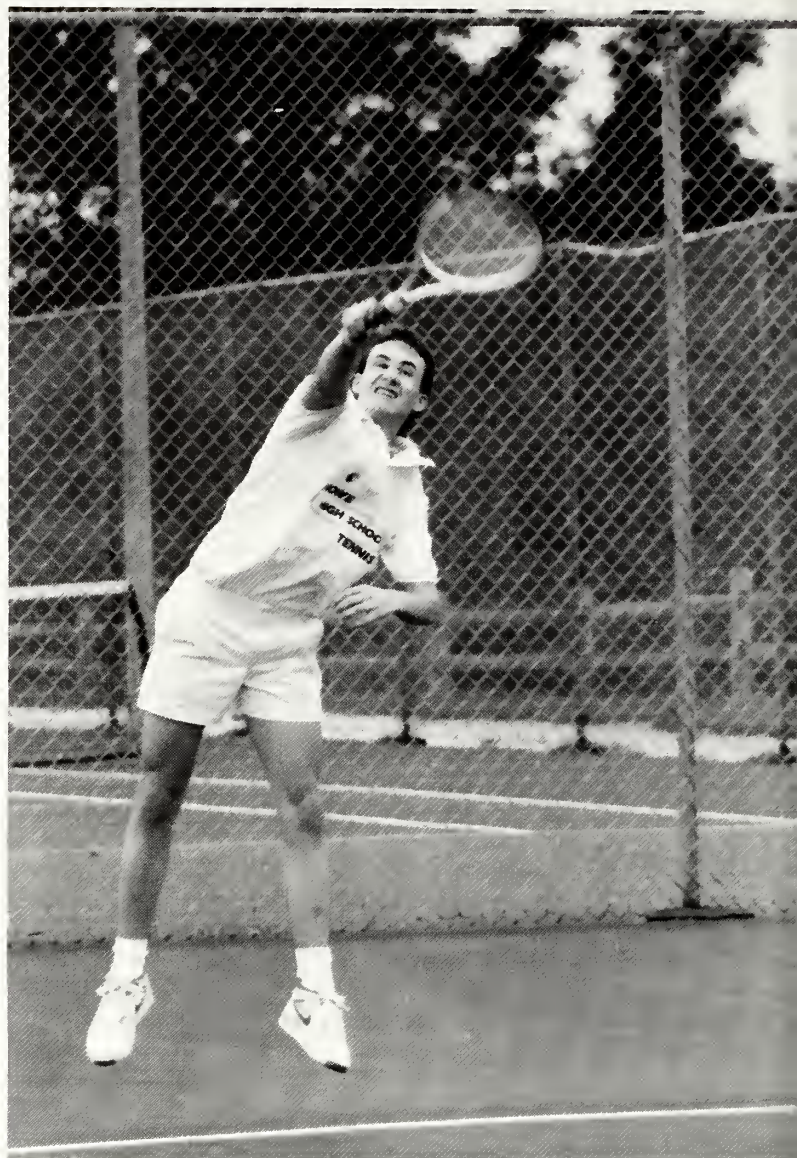

The coach reports this tennis teams' most outstanding achievement to be its good sportsmanship. Congratulations! A fine achievement!

In the city tournament, the players ranked eighth in a field of twelve. In the IPS tournament, their position was fourth. Batting over 400, the team managed to enjoy themselves, to learn the game better, and to gain from the advantage of exercise.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

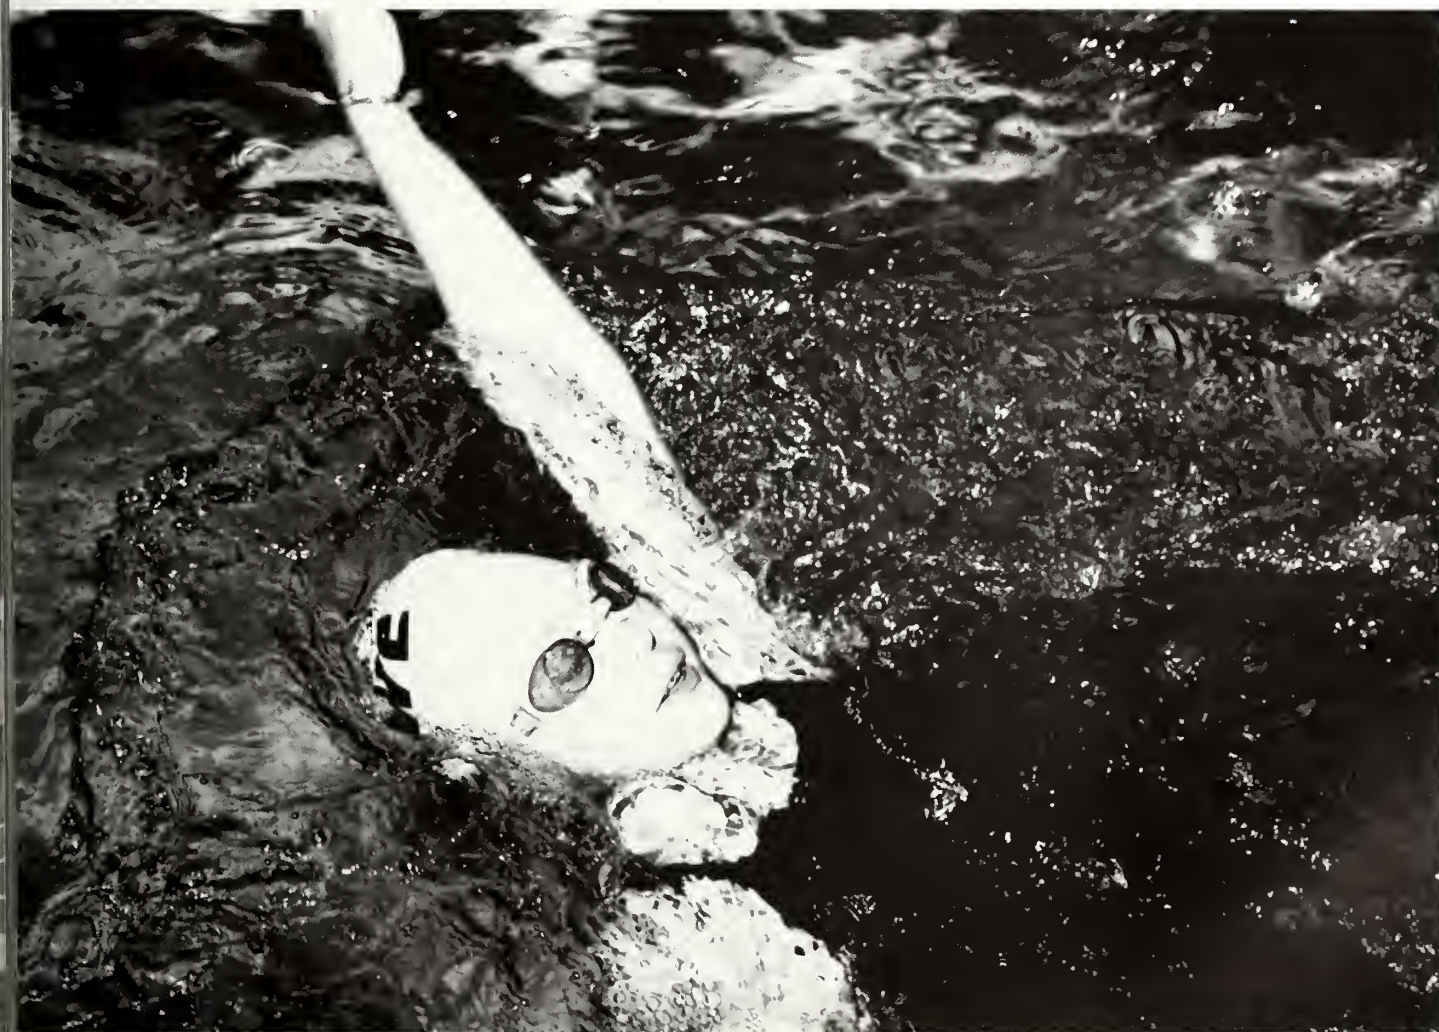

When the swim team practices started this year, only four members were there. The team realized that this was going to be a rebuilding year; and by the first meet, the team had acquired eight new swimmers.

The team practiced hard and pulled together to beat Beech Grove, Tech, Northwest, and Arlington in dual meets. The team also did well in the Tech Invitational taking third place in the meet and second place for IPS schools. Coach Liz Hendricksen sent only select members of the team to represent our school in sectionals.

Next year, the team will only lose two seniors. Co-captains, Amy Cook and Amanda Slaughter, will be returning for their fourth year on the team. The main goal for next year's team is to be City Champions. With a lot of hard work and dedication, the team can achieve its goal.

WINTER

SPORTS

BASKETBALL

Thomas Allen, co-captain, observes that most teams are difficult to play because high school basketball teams are a select and special group — those who make the team are quite good.

The goal of this year's team is to win more games than last year's team. The entire team works together to make this possible. Whether they win or lose, this team works really hard; but, of course, they try to win.

Co-captain Robert Mann agrees the team wants to do better than last year's team. He feels Howe's team should win the city tournament and the sectional.

The Junior Varsity and Freshman Basketball squads had many goals for the new season. To have a winning record, to win the City Tournament, and to improve their all around skills are some of the goals set by their teams, but their biggest goal is to prepare young men to be able to play on Varsity level.

The teams have played their games and have achieved some of their goals and are somewhat satisfied with themselves.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Girls' Basketball Team are coming off a 16-4 record in 1989. That was the best in the city. This year's team finished runners-up in the City Tourney. Roncalli beat Howe 59-47.

The team has the area's top player in Kim Cross. She is leading the Metro area in scoring, rebounding, and blocked shots. There are many division-one schools looking to Kim for next year.

The girls' team will enter the Sectional with 14-4 record. They will have to beat Roncalli to advance in the State Tournament. Overall, this year's team has been a very pleasant surprise, especially after losing six seniors off last year's team.

This year's wrestling team's goals were set high and many were accomplished. This was Mr. Miller's first year at Howe as head coach. Although Mr. Miller was hoping to have more people come out, the team worked hard to perform its best.

The final accomplishments this year were Mike Williams and Gary Smith going to semi-state, and the freshman team winning second place in the city tournament — not a bad showing for the team.

Gals Help

Sometime during every football game a person might find himself pondering the question: Who are those silly girls running around the field in gold jerseys? Well, it's an organization that makes life easier for the football team and coaches, and they call themselves the Golden Gals. What do they actually do? The Gals run water to the players, take statistics, run chains, and cheer our guys on to victory.

This has been a very exciting year for the Golden Gals. They had a chance to travel to games at Fort Wayne Snider and Gary. They were great experiences and a lot of fun for everyone.

Being a Golden Gal gives a person a chance to learn more about football and see the action behind the scene. It also gives a person a chance to get to know the football players better. The Golden Gals work very hard to make sure the games are running smoothly. There is a lot of work, but mostly it is just a lot of fun.

Jennifer Hardy

Above: Charlene Schilling watches over Amanda Slaughter to learn how to do the scoring for the wrestling matches.

Left: Mat Maids Kathy Cobb, Stacie Armstrong, Amy Sommers, and Christy Cantrell fight over who will put the mat up. That's how dedicated these Mat Maids are.

The Mat Maids are a support group for the Howe Wrestling Team. Unlike most schools, where the girls just cheer for the team, Howe's girls organize and work several tournaments and run all home meets which include the following assignments: scorers, runners, towel throwers, copiers, ticket sellers, hospitality, and distributing awards.

The Mat Maids travel with the team to away meets where they cheer and keep score. In addition to all of this, the girls clean up after the meets and tournaments.

On Tuesday and Thursdays the Mat Maids have meetings after school where they make signs and posters to place throughout the school notifying students and staff of wrestling meets. They also make signs of encouragement for individual wrestlers.

This year each Mat Maid was assigned a secret wrestler — like a secret pal. Each girl makes special signs for her secret wrestler, brings him oranges and apples to the meets and tournaments.

Many hours are spent as Mat Maids, but they are hours of great fun.

FOOTBALL CHEERLEADERS

Change of sponsors rocked the cheerleading squads this year. Mrs. Eileen Patton left for maternity and Mrs. Shelly Keller took over. Lack of cheerleading experience hindered some squads and difficulty scheduling regular practices some.

A trip to Gary highlighted this year's varsity squad activity. The rain, the wind, and the lights in the stadium going out made this a unique experience at Gary's Homecoming Game. The spirit of the group was high with all the special effects at Gary.

The Cheerleaders have had a really good season. They've had some ups and downs. The down side has been that a few people had trouble living up to their responsibility as a Cheerleader; and, therefore, their dismissal resulted. It seemed that the Varsity Cheerleaders would be affected the most since they are seen the most, but they weren't. They started out with eight Cheerleaders which was cut back to four and then rose to six. Through it all, they managed to stay together and cooperate with one another.

Cheerleading requires much practice and patience. Much is expected of a Cheerleader academically; also one is required to pass five classes. A Cheerleader is expected to keep a good reputation. Mrs. Keller, the Cheerleading coach, is thought to be great. She is very understanding and fun. She doesn't expect the squad to do anything that is impossible — only what it is suppose to do and what is according to the rules and regulations. Varsity Cheerleader Kathy Lashley says this, "We all get along great and Mrs. Keller is the best! The squads I was on before always argued, but we never do. I think we had a good season even though we did lose some cheerleaders. The rest of us stuck together and did the best with what we had."

The Cheerleaders practice every Tuesday and Thursday from 2:45 to 4:00 P.M. Sometimes it is difficult for them to have to go home and do homework because they're so tired, but it has to be done. Varsity Cheerleader Felicia Willis says, "Sometimes I've done homework from 4:30 until 9:00. It is hard sometimes, but I've survived so far." Many Cheerleaders maintain high grades. They recommend a little motivation and determination for anyone wanting to be a good student and a good Cheerleader.

Seniors Say Farewell

1986-87 Soybean burgers, freshman year, Ronald Reagan, class cheer, Tom Cruise, "Top Gun," phys. ed., no fun.

1987-88 Sophomore year, Mr. Totten, dissect worms, cafeteria's still rotten, Nancy Reagan visits school, tells us drugs just ain't "cool," Homecoming fifty years, all the pressure from our peers.

ONLY TWO MORE YEARS

1988-89 Bomb threats, Madora's drills, chemistry is no big thrill, City Champs — football team, year-book, MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM.

1989-90 Study hall, bubble gum, Jack Daniels' Old Slum, students shout, senior clout, goodbye to Frank Tout, Spirit Week, 50's Day, all work and no play, pep session cancellation, students' walk out demonstration.

Don't call me a liar
Because I saw it all
Down every hall.
Don't call me a liar
Our senior year is gone

But memories still go on and on and on
Here is a special announcement to announce a special announcement: This is dedicated to the Senior Class of '90.

Our Town

Talented, bright, enthusiastic students made OUR TOWN come to life for the senior-sponsored play. Students out-acted the professionals seen on a television play and movie; they made a play thought to be dull, truly alive and interesting. Joe Bramblett, Amy Watt, Matt McBurnie, Jason Cox, Rosie Deal, Jayna Green, Jerry Knowles, and Shelley Oberholtzer led the group. Four sets of brothers and sisters were present on or around the stage Kristin and Andy Woodard, Jim and Brandy Wright, Rosie and Jim Deal, and Melissa and Jenny Benton. Keith Trinkle, Amy Hucks, Laura Payton, Dave VanSell, Heather Hobbs, Allison Whittemore, Paul Linville, Alfonzo Williams, and Lindell Reid added much to the scenes. Sherie Proctor and Melissa Benton offered essential and skillful student directing for a cast who prepared the play in seemingly record time — three and one half weeks. Those who aided with lights, tickets, bulletins, scenery, props and such — whatever small amount — were valued in the production of OUR TOWN by Thornton Wilder.

Student Council has been an active force in the life of Howe High School. From candy grams to the Leadership Odyssey, Student Council members have contributed time, energy, and spirit. The Council sponsors various dances throughout the school year. The members also sponsor (a day which most teachers enjoy) Teachers' Appreciation Day. Christmas is a very busy time for Student Council. Members undertake projects like collecting clothes for the needy, entertaining the local nursing home, and decorating the neighborhood with luminaria. Homecoming and Winter Sports are also sponsored by our Student Council. Sponsor, Mrs. Aman, and President, Karlisa Scott, led Student Council for a mini period each day. Those twenty-five minutes led to hour after hour of fun and activity for Student Council and the student body of Howe High School.

Amy Weidner

1973-1989

The death of Amy Weidner devastated her family, friends, and acquaintances at Howe High School this year. As a junior, she worked hard at school; Amy also worked hard at home being a mother to her two year old daughter, Emily.

Amy was an honor student, a member of the band and a Mat Maid for the wrestling team. French class was a special interest for Amy; she became a member of the French Club and also tutored in the language.

To show their deep felt loss, many friends and acquaintances contributed to a trust fund for Amy's surviving daughter. Amy will be remembered for all the time she took to help at school and home.

Ron Irland
Gary Patton
Randy Wemple

Bottom Right: Mrs. McNeish, as one of the two in charge of the North Central Committees, gives assistance to some teachers.

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

*Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth.*

*Then took the other as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that, the passing there
Had worn them really about the same.*

*And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no steps had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day.
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.*

*I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.*

— Robert Frost

HILLTOPPER

Another year another advisor seems to be the theme of the Hilltopper. This year began and before we knew what was going on we had a new advisor. Miss Shirley Smith came in and took off in the right direction to set the yearbook back on track. Besides a new advisor, many other new faces have shown up. They have all added many new and different ideas to the yearbook. Of course, the veterans of the yearbook have contributed a great deal because without them no one would know what to do. It's been a fun year to work on the yearbook. Even though we seemed to be faced with a lot of catastrophes, we worked them all out. What you see is our end result. We hope you enjoyed this book. Good luck to next year's staff.

Farewell from the Staff:

Like a precious flower . . .

AMY WEIDNER

Like a precious flower that has bloomed before its time,
The sweet fragrance of her kindness still lingers in our minds.

Like a song left unsung,
her life had just begun.
The sadness is heavy but life must go on.

We could never forget her even though she's gone.
It seems so unfair that life can be so unkind,
And justice in our world
can be so blind.

Sixteen short years
she lives on the earth,
And in all that she gave it was love well worth.

Please let us not weep;
let us all smile
That God gave her to us even for a little while.

Like a song left unsung,
over before it could start,
Her melody forever flows and her love blooms in our hearts.

Anna Sanders
